***WORKSESSION*****

4. Receive Update And Funding Request From The Children's Advocacy Center For North Texas.

Kristen Howell, Chief Executive Officer for the Children's Advocacy Center For North Texas, advised that the Texas Family Code requires counties to provide a service where child victims of sexual or physical abuse and/or child witnesses to major violence can go and receive services in a single, safe environment. The Center provides coordination of investigations, health exams, and prosecution relative to an impacted child and their family. The Children's Advocacy Center For North Texas has four locations, serving three counties: Denton, Jack, and Wise. In addition to services provided directly to children and their families, the Center provides training for 67 police agencies within their three counties.

Ms. Howell advised that in 2024, the Children's Advocacy Center For North Texas served 4,977 children. There is no cost to the children or their families. The cost for services per child is $2,400, with a total annual budget of $8 million. She advised that state and federal funding provides 5 percent of the budget and asked the City of Carrollton for $101,000.

5. Receive Update And Funding Request From Metrocrest Services.

Item 5 was addressed prior to Item 4.

Tracy Eubanks, Chief Executive Officer for Metrocrest Services, provided a summary of the services provided to the City of Carrollton residents, including food, housing assistance, healthcare resources, economic training, and senior services. He advised that Metrocrest Services has 30 partners on site who provide healthcare assistance, funding and training at its new facility located in Carrollton. Mr. Eubanks added that last year, 24,000 people were served.

Mr. Eubanks advised that federal funding reductions are impacting Metrocrest Services' budget by 3 percent, however the North Texas Food Bank has lost $11 million in USDA funding. He noted that private donations are down this year by 29 percent. Mr. Eubanks asked for a one-time funding amount of $102,284 in addition to the current contracted amount of $511,000 from the City of Carrollton for the FY24-25 fiscal year. He advised he is also in the process of meeting with the cities of Coppell, Addison, and Farmers Branch.
