Councilmember Polter talked about the highlights of his service on the City Council including his appreciation for the staff and their professionalism and spoke on challenges for incoming and on-going Council to consider. He thanked the community for allowing him to serve, stating it was his distinct honor and privilege.

Mayor Babick began his comments about Councilmember Young Sung stating that Councilmember Sung would always be remembered as the first Korean and Asian elected official. He expressed appreciation for Councilmember Sung's service, commitment to Carrollton, and presented him with a street name sign, picture book, and flowers.

Councilmember Sung thanked particular individuals for assistance during his service to Carrollton, including many staff members as well as past and current Councilmembers. He spoke of the highlights throughout his service on Council and his hopes of inspiring those to serve in the future.

Mayor Babick announced that former City of Carrollton Mayor and current Denton County Commissioner Kevin Falconer would administer the Oath of Office to the returning and newly elected Councilmembers.

Commissioner Falconer administered the Oath of Office to Jason Carpenter, Council Place 2; Daisy Palomo, Council Place 6; Andrew Palacios, Council Place 4; and Steve Babick, Mayor.

Mayor Babick invited the newly and reelected members to make comments.

Councilmember Carpenter thanked God, his family, campaign team, opponent Eddie Lopez, and the citizens of Carrollton. He spoke about his readiness to serve the citizens of the City of Carrollton. He challenged the citizens to stay involved, participate, let their talents shine, let their voice be heard, and let their influence be realized.

Councilmember Daisy Palomo thanked all those who voted in the election and talked about representing all of Carrollton. She expressed her appreciation for those who helped during the campaign and named specific individuals. She challenged women to keep going and to believe in themselves.

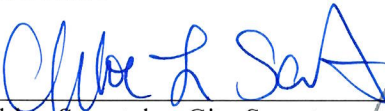

Councilmember Palacios acknowledged his wife and children, thanked his family and friends for their unwavering support as well as to the voters. He expressed appreciation for the City staff and stated he was proud to be a part of the team providing the core essential services to the residents. In closing, he stated he looks forward to continuing the focus on the vision and strategic goals of the City.

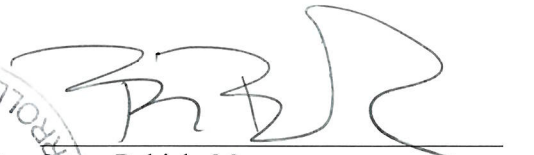

Mayor Babick began his comments by again thanking Councilmembers Adam Polter and Young Sung for their service. He also saluted the candidates who were not successful in this election for going through the process and encouraged them to stay involved. He also voiced his appreciation for the service of all Councilmembers and specifically thanked his family for their support. He stated that he is ready to get to work and leverage the momentum to move forward with the vision for the future.

ADJOURNMENT - Mayor Babick adjourned the meeting at 8:28 pm and invited the audience to attend the reception in the foyer.
